Remote Temperature Monitoring

Did you know most vaccines exposed to -0.5 degrees Celsius for just 1 hour is enough to compromise the effectiveness of that vaccine? "Beyond Wireless" are a global business (with a focus on cold chain monitoring) who approached Garth some months ago to demonstrate their temperature monitoring system relating to vaccine storage. We have installed and evaluated it in the cold room at Garth as our primary temperature monitoring system, there is also a device in the delivery van to monitor the vaccine and ambient sections to ensure compliance. The technology provides a solution for farm vaccine storage monitoring, alerts can be set for any loss of power or reduction in temperature via an App or email notification system, there is also a dashboard which shows the temperature ranges throughout the day/week to ensure consistent monitoring. If you would like to know more about this then please make contact with our commercial director in the practice Fraser Cloughton on 07739 971601 or fraser.cloughton@garthvet.co.uk
